

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Captain Lipscomb Fears His Son May Have Died in Bluefield, W. Va.

CHURCH SERVICES TO-DAY

Wanted to Shoot Him—Contracts for Building Five Houses Awarded.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street.

Chief of Police Lipscomb was very much worried last night over the receipt of a telegram from Bluefield, W. Va., announcing the death of a B. P. Lipscomb in that city, and asking what disposition should be made of the remains. The telegram was signed A. H. Land, secretary of the Bluefield Lodge.

The chief fears that it may be his son, J. M. Lipscomb, who, when last heard from, was working in Garysburg, N. C. The young man is of a glib disposition, and it is thought that he may have gone to West Virginia in quest of work.

He could not be located in Garysburg by telephone, and the chief at a late hour last night was awaiting a reply from Bluefield, where he had also telephoned for news of his son. Mr. Lipscomb fears that there may be some confusion of initials.

Wanted to Shoot Him.

Charlie Scott and John Bell, both colored, were arrested last night on a charge of fighting, and were lodged in the county house.

Scott went after a shotgun, wherewith to shoot Bell, but he was fortunately stopped in time by Officer Moore. Scott said he didn't mean any harm, but the police thought differently, and decided it was best to put him under lock and key.

Boys, Accused of Theft, Run.

Two boys took a pair of gold-rimmed eyeglasses to Mr. Oppleman's store last night and offered to sell them for ten cents. Mr. Oppleman accused them of stealing the glasses, and the boy who had possession of them dropped them and ran. They were not apprehended, but the police are on the lookout for them.

The glasses, contained in a leather case, are now in the hands of the police at the station-house, where they may be identified and recovered.

Smith is Held for Trial.

When the case of Arthur Smith, a white man, charged with deserting his wife and infant child, was called in the Mayor's Court yesterday, Attorney J. T. Blake and E. T. Ryan, counsel for Smith, argued that the whole proceeding was illegal, and moved that the case be dismissed. They contended that the Mayor had no jurisdiction of the offense. Mayor Maurice, however, held to his view of the case, but deferred the case until the next day, when he will hear the Commonwealth's Attorney Gregory may be present.

Services To-day.

Rev. R. M. Chandler, pastor, will conduct the services at Central Methodist Episcopal Church. The theme of the morning sermon will be "Self-Examination." At night he will exhort on "The Power of the Cross," Rev. A. B. Sharpe, pastor of Fifth Street Church.

Rev. M. Chandler has been granted a vacation by his church and will leave the city on Monday for Norfolk and Ocean View. His pulpit will be supplied on the fifth Sunday in July by Rev. S. Hunter, of Ashland, and on the first Sunday in August by Rev. Reginald Walker, of Richmond.

Rev. B. E. Hudson, pastor, will preach at both services at Abney Church to-day. His subject for the morning sermon will be "Where Art Thou?" At night he will preach on "Heaven and How to Get There."

At the First Presbyterian Church John J. Fix, pastor, will preach.

Rev. B. Lucy Hoge, of Jackson, Ga., will preach at both services to-day at Bridge Street Church.

The Joseph E. Johnston Camp of United Confederate Veterans, will attend divine services at Stockton Street Baptist Church. Rev. Dr. Criffin will preach.

MANN TACKLES AMHERST ROADS

Finds Red Clay and Swollen Streams a Tough Combination.

HE SPEAKS IN A CHURCH

Was the Standard Bearer in the Time of Stress and Should Be Supported Now.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

AMHERST, VA., July 22.—Judge William H. Mann drove twenty miles over the worst of Amherst roads and through a terrific rain-storm to make a speech at a big picnic given in his honor at Pleasant View. In this county, to-day, Mr. J. D. Eggleston, Jr., candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, also drove to the same meeting, but did not have an opportunity to speak.

The mountain streams were considerably swollen, and in one instance the newspaper man of the crowd had to climb out of the buggy in water up to his waist to pull a log from between the wheels of the buggy, which had been jammed there as it floated down the enraged stream.

The crowd, which Judge Mann found eating dinner, was a large one for such an inclement day. As there was no other place found which would hold the crowd, the speaking took place in the open air. The chairman of the meeting first asked if any one present objected. No objection being heard, the church was used for the purpose.

Judge Mann was introduced by Captain R. P. Eubank. He began by saying that he wished to speak principally about a moral question, there was no reason why he should not speak in a church, though he was opposed to holding political meetings in churches.

After a hurried survey of the subjects of roads and education, Judge Mann took up the issue of the Mann bill, to which he devoted over half of his speech.

He said that he had taken up the temperance fight before the Legislature at a time when he thought that the saloon influence was dominant in the Democratic party, and that it would be political death to any man to oppose them in the Legislature of Virginia; that by the aid of the Woman's Temperance Union, the Anti-Saloon League, the churches and numerous petitions, he had won this fight. He had not won alone, but he had been aided by the law-abiding citizens of the State with great effect.

"What are you going to do with your standard-bearer? After you have won victory, are you going to give the standard to some other man?" He then criticized the silence of Mr. Swann and Willard on the issue of the Mann bill.

He referred to the fact that the Mann bill had closed up $80 saloons, and at the same time had increased the revenues of the State $200,000.

He asserted that there was an organized movement on foot in this State to have the Mann bill repealed at the next session of the Legislature, and he appealed to those who advocated it to stand by him. This suggestion was secret, but powerful in its workings.

He said that The Times-Dispatch had cartooned him as holding his baby and not recognizing it, but he said that the great moral principle which was embodied in the Mann bill when it was drawn was there when it was passed, and he said that he was the proper one to nurse his own baby of but two years of age.

Judge Mann took well with the crowd, quite a large per cent. of which was ladies. It was interspersed with humorous hints at his opponents and unerring jokes.

He was already strong in the Pleasant View speech, but he did not do it to his strength. He drove back to Amherst and made an address to a crowd in the courthouse here to-night.

Judge Mann seems to stand the fatigue of the campaign very well. But he remarked to your correspondent that his arm was so sore from gestulating that he could not raise a pound with it without pain.

Other Services To-day.

Rev. B. H. Melton, who has been visiting his family at Lee, Va., will preach at both the morning and evening services at the Methodist Church in the Marshall Street Christian Church.

STORY OF JOHN PAUL, WRITTEN BY HIMSELF

Translation of the French Manuscript Left By the Great Sea Fighter, Whose Remains Are Now Being Taken to Annapolis.

The discovery of the remains of John Paul Jones attracts attention to the history of this remarkable man, commonly known as the "Great Sea Fighter," who was killed by the British in 1792. The manuscript, which has been written about him at this time, however, is as interesting as what he has written of himself.

The Weekly Register of Baltimore, began on June 6, 1812, the publication of a narrative translated from a French manuscript written by the great sea fighter. The Times-Dispatch will reproduce this narrative from the files of The Register. The account will be published in several installments, of which the first is given to-day.

The Register introduced the manuscript, with the following rather remarkable sentences:

"As the time is coming as such men as Paul Jones was will come in the future, the present is a proper season to make his character and conduct better known to our readers. The following interesting narrative from a French manuscript, written by himself:

"While we condemn the author of his egotisms, we must make allowance for the want of the splendid success that attended his enterprises and estimate his vanity by the reasons he had to be vain. Few even, perhaps, circumscribed as Paul Jones was, would have praised themselves more than he has done in this sketch, which possesses the singular merit of being substantially correct in all its parts, so far as we are informed of the matter."

The narrative follows:

"At the commencement of the American war (during the year 1775) I was employed to fit out the little squadron, which the Congress had placed under the command of the American flag, and as the Congress at that time proposed to appropriate two-thirds of the prizes to itself, they would thus have been furnished with the means of carrying on the war during several years; but an event of a more pressing nature prevented this scheme from being carried into execution.

"The cruelties and vexations at that time exercised by the British, determined the Congress to attack the enemy's coast, and to capture the little squadron, which would infallibly have rendered us masters of the homeward-bound East India fleet; and as the Congress at that time proposed to appropriate two-thirds of the prizes to itself, they would thus have been furnished with the means of carrying on the war during several years; but an event of a more pressing nature prevented this scheme from being carried into execution.

If you are going to the seashore or countryside for your summer vacation, don't fail to take a bottle of Duffy's with you. The greater share of the summer hotels and country farmhouses depend almost entirely upon impure wells and worm-eaten cisterns for their water supply. True, in most cases the drinking water is filtered, but think of the millions of tiny, minute germs which escape even the finest screened filter and cause typhoid, cholera morbus and bowel trouble. Examine a seemingly pure glass of drinking water under a powerful microscope, and you will be horrified to find the water swimming with disease germs. Doctors of all schools say to put a teaspoonful of

WM. HENRY MANN FOR CONGRESS

Popular Young Petersburgers May Run Next Term.

NEW PLAN WORKS WELL

Democratic Committee Having Fine Success in Securing Unpaid Election Officers.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, Va., July 22.—Mr. William Henry Mann, one of Petersburg's best known and most popular citizens, will very probably be a candidate for Congress at the next congressional election, subject to the action of the Democratic party, an announcement that has been confirmed on excellent authority.

Mr. Mann is a prominent young Virginian, who has well served his city and State in responsible capacities. He has represented Petersburg in the House of Delegates and succeeded Colonel John Bell Bigler as chief clerk of that body.

Mr. Mann has also held the position of keeper of the rolls of Virginia, and was a member of Governor Tyler's staff. He is a brother of Mr. Richard H. Mann, Commonwealth's attorney of this city, with whom for a number of years he practiced law in the well known firm of Mann & Mann.

The Democratic City Central Committee seems to be meeting with prompt success in its new plan, decided upon at the meeting last evening, to strive to secure for the primary election, August 2nd, judges who will give their services without charge. Two well known citizens have already volunteered.

The new Board of Overseers of the Poor, elected at the joint meeting of the Board of Aldermen and Council last evening, is stated in The Times-Dispatch this morning, consists of the following members from the different wards: First Ward—E. A. Baln and J. M. Saunders; Second Ward—W. C. Kevan and L. M. Green; Third Ward—T. S. Beckwith and R. E. Spurgeon; Fourth Ward—W. C. Smith and H. F. Munt; Fifth Ward—R. R. Ramey and W. E. Trant; Sixth Ward—T. F. Kidd and D. W. Branch. "This board serves for a term of one year, a recent change from the former term of two.

Bishop John C. Granberry, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is in the city, the guest of Mr. Augustus Wright. Bishop Granberry will preach at the Market Street Methodist Church to-morrow morning and evening, and will preside at the District Conference, which convenes at that church Tuesday evening.
